

9. Exam/Test Study Worksheet

Course _____

When a test or exam is approaching, it is time to review the material the professor has covered in the course. Professors typically cover material in a variety of ways—through lectures, hand-outs in class, experientially in laboratories for some courses, by making their ppt notes available, and through assigned readings. You can enhance learning by reviewing this material, completing practice questions that the professors sometimes provide, or that appear at the end of chapters in the course text, and through making summary notes. The purpose of this worksheet is to help you keep track of these activities for each week in the term. As you review the class notes, the hand-outs, etc. for a particular week, check off the appropriate box on this worksheet, or enter a few key words to remind you of what was covered in a particular week.
